

FIVE INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE ON ROSWELL ROAD

Two Young Men and Three Girls Painfully Hurt When "Right Wheel of Auto Locks."

INJURED GIRL PINNED UNDER THE AUTOMOBILE

After Walk of a Mile Two Members of Party Reach Phone and Garage Sends Machine to Scene of the Accident.

Racing down Clyde hill, on the Roswell road, an auto driven by C. L. Whitehead, of 107 Trinity avenue, and containing two other young men and three girls, turned turtle about 10 o'clock last night, seriously injuring two of the girls, occupants and badly bruising the rest of the occupants of the machine. One of the girls was pinned under the heavy touring car for the better part of fifteen minutes, until the three young men could get fence rails and pry the car body from the ground.

The injured are:
Julia Lewis, aged 18, of 158 Nelson street.
The Lewis, aged 20, of 158 Nelson street.
Myrtle Smithers, of 158 Nelson street.
Ralph Smith, of Windsor, Ga.
S. W. Wood, 704 Edgewood avenue.

Says Wheel Locked.

The driver of the car, Whitehead, stated last night that the "front right wheel of the car locked as the car ran down the hill."

According to Whitehead's story, he had taken T. C. Calloway, treasurer of the Cleveland-Manning Piano company, out to West End, and on his return to town had seen the Lewis girls and Miss Smithers, whom he knew. He asked them to take a ride. They, in company with Smith and Wood, boarded the auto and the party started for the outskirts of the city.

As the machine struck Clyde hill, a particularly steep grade, the front wheel of the car became locked and the steering apparatus buckled.

The car passed three times and then threw a complete somersault. Miss Smithers, who was riding in the tonneau, was tossed several yards. The Lewis girls were pinned under the overturned machine. Ralph Smith was fastened under the car by his right arm, which was caught when the car sent fell from its position.

Phone to Garage.

As soon as he extricated himself he and Miss Smithers walked nearly a mile to a telephone, where a local garage was called.

The garage sent a relief machine to the scene and the injured people were placed in the tonneau and rushed to Grady hospital. Surgeons examined the Lewis girls and the three young men were sent to their homes.

HOWARD ASKS MILLION FOR ATLANTA OFFICE

Congressman Introduces Bill for New Postoffice Site and Building.

Washington, March 23.—A $1,000,000 appropriation for a site and building for a postoffice at Atlanta, Ga., was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Howard. The bill carries the usual safeguard that the building must be "unexposed to danger from fire by open space of at least 40 feet on all sides."

RICH GIRL BECOMES BRIDE OF GARDENER, THEN LEAVES HIM

New York, March 23.—Miss Juliet Brettung, daughter of Edward N. Brettung, president of E. N. Brettung & Co., bankers, was married last November to Max Kleist, a gardener, who was employed on an estate adjoining the Brettung family home in Marietta, Mich., according to a statement authorized late today by Mr. Brettung. The formal announcement, issued through attorneys, was made after several inquiries to Mrs. Brettung and her daughter during the past few days had brought forth no confirmation of published stories that a clergyman in this city had filed at the bureau of licenses an affidavit that such a marriage had taken place.

Young Kleist, it is said, went to work in an Arizona silver mine after the wedding. He is 23 years old, four years the senior of his wife. The statement, signed by Mr. Brettung, is as follows: "I am advised that on the 22d day of November, 1913, at Grace church in New York city, my daughter, Miss Juliet Brettung, was married to Max Kleist, a gardener, as appears from the record of the church, and immediately thereafter returned to our home at St. Regis hotel, where she since has lived and where she desires to continue to live."

Boys Blown to Pieces.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 23.—Frank Earlwine and John Stachouse, 15-year-old boys, were blown to pieces at Proctor, Ohio, when a train carrying a car of dynamite exploded. The train was carrying a car of dynamite and a fast passenger train was flagged just in time to avert a wreck.

Pretty Wife of Alleged Yegg and Train Robber Declares She Will Prove Innocence of Husband

Left to right: A. O. Perry, who was identified by postal clerk as man who stabbed him during Queen and Crescent $40,000 train robbery; James Fields, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Fields, and Rexford Fields, at whose Brookline street home complete set of yeggmen tools and considerable stolen money was found.

While the detectives are busy in an effort to weave a web which will convict her husband of helping rob a store in Milledgeville and of complicity in the $40,000 hold-up of the Queen and Crescent train, Mrs. Rexford P. Fields is exerting every energy to baffle them and to prove her husband innocent of the charges against him.

"I have employed a lawyer, and am spending every moment of my spare time to liberate my husband. He is innocent, and I expect to prove it," said Mrs. Fields, her dark eyes flashing fire and determination.

"I have two little children, and it is mighty hard on me to have my husband taken away from me. As far as the efforts of the police in suspecting my husband as being the man who held up the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis train at "Yingus, Ga., on the night of January 18, I will prove an alibi for both him and Perry. Perry and my husband, with a local physician, sat up all night with me on that particular night while I was seriously sick. I remember the night well."

Little James Fields, the 3-year-old boy, says that his papa is innocent, and the little 6-year-old girl also declares that her papa will soon be back home.

The plain clothes policemen say they are fast winding a web of evidence around the three suspects. The alleged yeggmen have told the police that they are steeljacks, and that they earned a living from the smokestacks. However, the police claim that they are able to show only one receipt of $6 for work done of this nature since last September.

When Fields' residence, at 33 Brookline street, was recently searched the detectives dug up from underneath the house a complete yeggmen outfit. While making this search they discovered a note book which Fields admits as belonging to him. In it were the names of prominent citizens at LaGrange, Newnan, West Point, Griffin and Jackson, Ga., and written beside their names were small amounts of money.

On the back of the book was pasted a slip, "Please help the deaf and dumb." Fields admits having worked the deaf and dumb gas, and the police suspect him of gaining information for the alleged gang in this manner.

DURHAM IS SWEEPED BY $1,000,000 FIRE

Break in Water Mains Renders Firemen Helpless. Entire Business Section in Danger of Destruction.

Durham, N. C., March 24.—The entire business section of Durham is threatened with destruction by a fire which originated in the Duke building, a five-story office structure, at 11 o'clock last night.

Buildings occupying one city block have either been entirely destroyed or badly damaged and the flames have spread to another city block.

The flames raged for more than a half-hour while the firemen stood helpless as a result of a break in the city water mains. There also was another break which reduced the water pressure and hindered the firemen. The water supply still is intermittent.

The latest estimates place the loss at fully $1,000,000.

A heavy wind blew the flames and smoke toward the city center, where the Academy of Music was in the path of the fire.

RIOTING AT BUFFALO; TROOPS ARE ON DUTY

One Man Killed and Three Wounded—Rioting Due to a Strike.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 23.—The Seventy-fourth regiment was ordered out for strike duty at 11 o'clock tonight following two serious riots at the plant of the Gould Coupler company within the last twenty-four hours. One company was sent to Depew at midnight for guard duty.

The riotous scenes today which resulted in the shooting of four men, one of them fatally, and the injury of many others were the first serious disturbances since the strike began at the Depew shops eight weeks ago.

It was stated tonight that the lawless element at Depew had received a large shipment of arms today and that an attempt would be made to get possession of the guns and ammunition tomorrow.

Stanislau Skolonski was shot in the head early in the day when a mob of 300 men held up a train bearing workmen to the plant and fought a half-hour pitched battle with the deputies. He died tonight at the hospital.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED BY THE N. C. & ST. L.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23.—It was announced today by President John Howe Peyton of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, that the following changes would take place April 1:

PIG'S EYE CORNEA PUT ON BLIND EYE OF AN INFANT BOY

Baltimore, Md., March 23.—What is believed to be the first operation of its kind in this country was performed today at a local hospital when the cornea of a pig's eye was grafted on the sightless eye of a 3-month-old boy.

It was said that previous operations, in which rabbit's eyes had been used, were unsuccessful, but that experiments with pig's eyes had led scientists to believe that they were more adaptable. Two cases are said to be on record where the grafting of human corneas gave sight to totally blind eyes.

In today's operation the pig was chloroformed, the eyeball taken out and the cornea cut from it. An extraordinarily fine needle and fine silk were used in sewing the cornea in place. The eye will remain bandaged for about a week.

JUDGE AND PROSECUTOR DENOUNCED BY CITIZENS

Because of Acquittal of Man and Wife on a Charge of Murder.

Shreveport, La., March 23.—District Judge Land and District Attorney Mabrey, who conducted the trial here of Henry Little and his wife, recently acquitted of the charge of murder in connection with the killing of J. J. VanCleave, were scored in a committee report read at a mass meeting of citizens here tonight.

The report was prepared by a committee of seven appointed at a mass meeting held several weeks ago, at the time of the acquittal of the Littles, called to protest against the verdict.

The committee charged that the rulings of Judge Land were uniformly with the defense, "right or wrong." District Attorney Mabrey committed a "tactical error," the committee found, in taking the case up for trial on Saturday preceding two holidays.

At the trial the jury was told that the defense was "right or wrong." The committee charged that the rulings of Judge Land were uniformly with the defense, "right or wrong." District Attorney Mabrey committed a "tactical error," the committee found, in taking the case up for trial on Saturday preceding two holidays.

At the first mass meeting demand was made that Little and his wife quit Shreveport.

NEWS BEING SOUGHT OF ROOSEVELT PARTY

New York, March 23.—After waiting all day in vain for further advice regarding the accident to the Roosevelt exploration party in Brazil, the American Museum of Natural History tonight cabled to the American consul in Paris asking for the information.

"Can you obtain any information concerning the Roosevelt party? Wire Santarem. Advise by telegraph at earliest possibility. All expenses guaranteed."

Santarem is the town in the state of Para, from which Anthony Flala, on Sunday, sent his brief message that the Roosevelt party had "lost everything in the rapids."

Nothing to supplant Flala's dispatch was received here during the day. Colonel Roosevelt's friends and family expressed no anxiety about his personal safety, but were eager to learn more about the mishap. They did not know where to address their inquiries.

WILSON DECLARES HE ASKS NATION TO GUARD HONOR

When He Asks for Repeal of the Tolls Exemption Clause in Panama Canal Act.

Washington, March 23.—President Wilson declared today that, in seeking the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption, he not only was asking that the nation do to, but was going the way of the majority in the democratic party. He pointed out that, when the Panama canal act was passed, a majority of the democrats then in the house of representatives voted against the tolls exemption, and that only by a coalition of a minority of democrats with a number of republicans did the measure become law.

This announcement was taken in administration circles as the president's answer to the argument that the Baltimore platform made the tolls exemption democratic doctrine. The president is understood to believe that the majority opinion of the democrats in the house, as last expressed, was a result of more deliberate consideration of the question than was possible at the Baltimore convention.

Anxious for a Vote.

The president made no secret of calling for his anxiety for the repeal measure to come to a vote. Asked if he thought influences were at work to prolong debate unnecessarily, Mr. Wilson said he didn't know, but it certainly appeared to him as if there had been filibustering; that minorities always filibustered and disclosed themselves in filibusters.

The president is confident that he will have the majority of his party behind him in the house when the repeal comes to a vote. He has been assured that at least 300 democrats will support him and many republicans.

Senator James, of Kentucky, has informed the president the vote in the senate would be at least 50 to 24 in favor of the repeal.

The president denied a charge made on the floor of the senate that he had attempted to limit the debate in the house. He said that while he had no part in suggesting a rule to limit debate, he hoped there would be one.

In reply to questions the president said he did not believe any influences were being brought to bear against the repeal.

Salty Resolutions.

Senator Thornton, democrat, of Louisiana, had read to the senate resolutions purporting to have been adopted at a St. Patrick's day gathering in New Orleans, saying the signers viewed "with pity and contempt the other senators now representing Louisiana."

Senator Thornton characterized the resolutions as "scurrilous," saying he did not believe it had been adopted at any public meeting of Irish-American citizens.

"I have evidence," he said, "that it was the work of two or three men in Cleveland at once."

ALLAN PINKERTON DEFENDS AGENCY IN FRANK PROBE

Letter Follows an Attack Recently Made Upon Private Detectives by Detective William J. Burns.

LEHON TO TAKE CHARGE IN ABSENCE OF BURNS

Reported That Extraordinary Motion for New Trial for Prisoner Will Be Filed This Week.

Defending the connection of the Pinkerton detectives with the Frank case, a letter has been received by The Constitution from Allan Pinkerton, head of the noted organization, in which reply is made to Detective William J. Burns' repeated attacks upon private detectives who were associated with the Phagan murder investigation.

The letter states that the Pinkertons are not now connected with the case in any phase, and have had nothing to do with it since the trial and conviction of Leo Frank. The attacks of Burns, so far as they are intended to refer to the Pinkertons, are branded as "absolutely untrue."

The Pinkerton headquarters in New York, the letter reads, has been informed by officials of the Atlanta branch, that "parties now on the case" contemplate making an "unjustified attack" through the press on evidence gathered by his competitors.

Now of Court Record.

"Any evidence Pinkerton attaches to the case," informs the letter, "is a matter of court record and those employees who will be available whenever required by the court for any testimony they can give."

The letter in full is as follows: "Editor Constitution: We enclose herewith a copy of an article published in The New York Sun of Saturday, March 21, relating to the Mary Phagan murder. (The Sun's article is signed 'Burns') and the private detectives are doing their best to hinder his investigation."

"Inasmuch as Pinkerton's National Detective agency performed considerable service on this case in behalf of our clients, the National Pencil company, and as a detective at present making an investigation of the matter is alleged to have said that 'private detectives are doing their best to hinder his investigation,' we desire to state that we are not now retained in the case, nor have we been since the trial of Mr. Frank."

"We are writing at this time that we may not be misquoted or misrepresented as our local representative in Atlanta advises us that he has just been informed that parties now on the case contemplate making an unjustified attack through the press on evidence gathered by his competitors."

"The published reference to private detectives, so far as they may be intended to refer to the Pinkertons, are absolutely untrue. Any evidence our employees have is a matter of court record and those employees who will be available whenever required by the court for any testimony they can give. Yours truly, 'PINKERTON'S NATIONAL DETECTIVE AGENCY.'"

Burns Goes to Gotham.

Detective Burns left Atlanta Monday morning at 11:01 o'clock for New York, where he goes to investigate with Leonard a mysterious phase of the Frank case that have developed in Gotham and other places. He will return, he stated, within three days.

Upon his departure he assured newspaper men that whoever was guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan would be convincingly disclosed by his investigation.

Dan Lehon, who will take charge of the investigation while his chief is on the present journey, will arrive in Atlanta some time early this morning. He would have come Monday, except for a stopover, which he made in Mississippi.

Guy Biddinger, assistant manager of the Burns service, will come to Atlanta during the latter part of the week. Just what particular phases of the investigation Burns will assign to these experts he will not state.

It was rumored Monday that the extraordinary motion for a new trial for Frank will be submitted to Judge Ben Hill during the latter part of the week, although the convicted man's attorneys say they have not decided upon a definite date.

Application News Completed.

It is known that the retrial application is nearing completion, and lacks only a few finishing touches. The return of Reuben Arnold substantiates, in a degree, the probability of an early filing of the motion.

While in New York, Burns and Attorney Haas will interview H. F. Becker, the ex-penitentiary employee, whose name it was said by the defense to have been inscribed in one of the murder notes found beside Mary Phagan's body.

ALONE IN ITS CAB, BABY HANGS SELF BY BONNET STRING

Cleveland, Ohio, March 23.—William Henry Yeomans, baby son of Henry Yeomans, a wealthy mine owner, late today was left alone in its cab on the porch of his home. When the nurse returned she found that a string on its bonnet had caught a hook at the side of the buggy and in turning over the infant had strangled itself to death. A train on which the father was traveling to his Colorado property was stopped near Chicago by means of a long distance telephone message. Yeomans will return to Cleveland at once.

Great Battle Is Raging In Suburbs of Torreon; Mexico Fate at Stake

U. S. TROOPS KILL HUERTA SOLDIERS IN BORDER FIGHT

Mexican Federals Were Pursuing Rebel Troopers and Were Firing Into Territory of United States.

MEXICANS DISREGARDED ORDER TO QUIT FIRING

After Three American Horses Had Been Killed, U. S. Troops Opened Fire and Killed Several Huerta Soldiers.

Eagle Pass, Texas, March 23.—Mexican federal soldiers who attempted to pursue with rifle bullets a defeated constitutionalist force escaping to the United States and safety, met sharp resistance yesterday from United States cavalry of border patrol at McKee's Crossing, above Del Rio, Texas. When three horses held by the American troopers had been shot down the Americans returned the fire across the Rio Grande and after the exchange of shots the Mexicans withdrew, bearing with them dead and wounded.

No American was hurt. How many of the Mexican soldiers were killed or wounded is not known.

Official reports of the occurrence to Colonel Sibley, commanding at Fort Clark here, caused orders for all available cavalry of the border patrol to proceed to Del Rio. One troop and a machine gun platoon left Eagle Pass today. Another engagement between Mexican federals and constitutionalists is expected tomorrow in the same territory.

How Clash Was Caused.

The clash across the international line was precipitated, according to official reports to headquarters here today, by persistent firing of the federals at the fleeing constitutionalists who had gained American territory and surrendered to United States troops. Three horses held by American cavalrymen were killed.

Ten minutes Captain Winterburn, of troop E, Fourteenth cavalry, signaled to the federals to cease firing, but reported that his signals were disregarded and his own men were in danger. He then ordered the Americans, a detachment of seven troopers, to fire, and a sharp fusillade followed, lasting for about five minutes.

Constitutionalists defeated Sunday were a scouting party led into a trap by the federals, who earlier in the day had captured Las Vacas, opposite Del Rio. They abandoned the town, but returned suddenly to attack the rebel soldiers.

Rebels Fled Over Border.

About forty-five constitutionalists were cut off by 300 federals at McKee's Crossing on the Rio Grande, where the rebels put up a stubborn resistance until overpowered by numbers. They then began retreating across the river to the American side, where Captain Winterburn's detachment of seven troopers was on duty to preserve neutrality.

Of the forty-five constitutionalists, only 27 reached the Texas bank. The rest were killed in the water, their bodies floating down stream.

There was no further trouble, and it was said here that the additional troops were ordered to Del Rio because of the battle expected tomorrow.

A force of about 700 constitutionalists was reported advancing from the southwest to Las Vacas, where the federal command is now stationed. A rebel company that has been encamped opposite Lantry, Texas, is also moving down the river toward Las Vacas.

Washington Approves.

Washington, March 23.—Frank approval of the action of the American troopers who returned the fire of Mexican federals at Del Rio yesterday was expressed here today in official circles. News of the incident was received at the war department as an incident of border patrol work, and created no great stir. Army reports told of the exchange of shots and announced that twenty-nine constitutionalists had been taken into custody after fifteen had been killed as they fled across the Rio Grande from the federal troops.

The war department stands squarely behind the action of the American troopers, and has determined to inflict prompt punishment upon Mexicans of any faction who willfully fire across the line and endanger American life and property.

Sometime ago General Bliss, after having repeatedly warned the Mexican military commanders against indiscriminate shooting across the line, instructed the officers in command of the American border patrol to return any such fire if they were satisfied that American soldiers were being made targets.

Postal Rates for Plants.

Washington, March 23.—Plants, seeds and cuttings may go through the mails at fourth class rates in packages weighing more than eight ounces, but by the terms of a bill, which passed the senate today and now goes to the house, a rate of 1 cent for two ounces was provided for packages of eight ounces and less.

Meager Dispatches Indicate That Gen. Villa's Forces Have Driven Huerta's Forces From All the Outlying Defenses.

ACTION WAS PRECEDED BY FURIOUS CANNONADE

Rebel Supporters in Juarez Jubilant Over News From Front—Villa Confident He Will Soon Capture Torreon.

El Verjil, Mexico, March 23.—Fighting of the most sanguinary character took place in the streets of Gomez Palacio. The rebels took the water tank on Cerro De La Pila, the Brittingham soap factory and the Cuyartel. The Cuyartel caught fire and the rebels were compelled to abandon it. At 11 p. m. the battle was reported still in progress. Streams of wounded were being brought to the field hospital here and as fast as possible being sent back to the general hospital at Bernalillo. Losses on both sides are reported heavy, but General Villa said the town was practically his.

GREAT BATTLE RAGING IN TORREON OUTSKIRTS

El Verjil, Durango, Mexico, March 23.—The real attack on Torreon began today when General Villa occupied Lerdo practically without resistance and at 1 o'clock this afternoon began an attack on Gomez Palacio.

The three towns are practically one in a commercial and social sense, and are connected by four miles of street railway, but Torreon proper represents the military stronghold, where the Mexican federal forces are gathered under General Refugio Velasco.

Gomez Palacio and Lerdo are without important natural defenses, and in previous revolutions never have been seriously defended. The real test of strength is expected to come soon when Villa hurls his forces against the defense of Torreon. On this battle, it is conceded, hinges the fate of the revolution.

The mountain Cerro De La Pila lies to the right of the street car line and railroad tracks which connect Gomez Palacio with Torreon, and forms an advance portion of the Torreon defenses.

General Villa telegraphed confidently that he would take Gomez Palacio tonight. His confidence is based on the fact that the mountain is usually defended merely for the purpose of inflicting what damage is possible. Otherwise the position is such that the defending force could be cut off by a superior enemy.

Preceded by Cannonade.

The advance on Gomez Palacio began from this point, which is only 2 or 3 miles from Gomez Palacio. The action was preceded by a furious cannonading directed at the federal batteries, with their infantry supports on the mountain slopes. When rebel officers with field glasses observed that the federals were shifting their positions, their own infantry was set in motion across the plains in the direction of the mountain.

It is reported that other troops are approaching in other directions. Last week Villa drove in the federal outposts from all points of the compass and made the way clear for his own attack by the mountain. Brittingham Junction and a number of other towns.

Once Gomez Palacio and the mountain La Pila is taken, the rebel troops may move through the valley following the street line to Torreon until the

To Ask for Habeas Corpus.

Denver, Colo., March 23.—Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for the United Mine Workers, today said that he would apply directly to the state supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus for Mrs. Jones.

The supreme court refused a former application, deciding that the district court must pass on the question first. The district court refused the writ.

Mr. Hawkins said that the supreme court should act now, as the case so far as legal questions were concerned, had been passed on by the district court.

A week ago today "Mother" Jones came to Denver after a three months' imprisonment in San Rafael hospital. At the time she declared she was deported and vowed that she would return to Trinidad at once to urge her "boys to fight and to encourage the wives of the striking miners." Originally "Mother" Jones was arrested in Trinidad because Governor Ammons and Adjutant General Chase deemed it unwise for her to be at liberty in the strike zone where they believed her presence would incite the strikers to riot.

"Mother" Jones is held incommunicado.

Captain Nickerson left Trinidad last night under orders from Adjutant General John Chase to arrest "Mother" Jones at Walsenburg when the announcement was made that she was leaving Denver for Trinidad. The militia officer boarded the train at Pueblo and at Walsenburg ordered "Mother" Jones to alight with him.

"I protest against such treatment," declared the strike leader, "but I am not surprised."

"I am acting under orders," replied the officer.

"Well, I'll get off," she retorted.

John Brown, an organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, and known as "Mother" Jones' bodyguard, who accompanied the aged strike leader, also left the train, but was not arrested.

Refused His Arm.

When "Mother" Jones alighted from the train in custody of Captain Nickerson, Lieutenant Howarth approached and said:

"Will you take my arm, madame?"

"No, I won't," retorted the prisoner. "You take my suit case."

"Mother" Jones protested vigorously when she learned she was being taken to the county jail. "This is an outrage," she declared. "I didn't think they'd dare do this."

Strikers obtained permission from Colonel Verdeckberg to supply the prisoner with food and clothing.

"Mother" Jones is held in a filthy underground cell," declared John Brown, a strike leader, "heretofore used for holding criminals."

Colonel Edward Verdeckberg, in whose charge the strike leader was left by Captain Nickerson, declares she is held in clean, comfortable quarters.

Alleged to Be Kidnaping.

Trinidad, Colo., March 23.—"It's a plain case of kidnaping, nothing else," declared John R. Lawson, international board member of the United Mine Workers, when advised that "Mother" Jones had been taken from a train at Walsenburg by military officers while on her way to Trinidad.

"Mother" Jones was going through the place and as far as I know there is absolutely no charge against her. I hope the supreme court will act in the matter at once."

"MOTHER" JONES HELD BY TROOPS

She Ventures Into Colorado Strike Zone and Is Arrested and Put in the County Jail.

Walsenburg, Colo., March 23.—After a week's freedom "Mother" Mary Jones is again a military prisoner in the strike zone. She was taken from a southbound Colorado and Southern train today by Captain H. C. Nickerson and lodged in the county jail under military guard.

ASKED AND ANSWERED.

Editor Constitution: Two reports have been persistently circulated here for the past several weeks—one to the effect that The Constitution has bought The Atlanta Georgian, and the other to the effect that Mr. Hearst has bought The Constitution.

Simply for information, and to put an end to the rumor one way or the other, I will be glad to have an expression from you on the subject.

D. G. BICKERS.

Athens, Ga., March 22, 1914.

The rumor quoted in the letter from Mr.
Bickers is an echo of similar gossip which has been revived in various forms from time to time during the forty-six years' career of The Constitution, and which, in its new form, has doubtless gained current and renewed circulation, on which account only The Constitution, confirming its personal reply to the specific inquiry, takes advantage of the opportunity to publicly bury this rumor in the grave of its predecessors.

The Constitution has not bought The Georgian, and, while it maintains cordial relations with all of its competitors, confessing a peculiar fondness for its Atlanta neighbors of the newspaper field, it has no cannibalistic appetite for assimilation.

Neither has The Constitution sold, nor offered, nor considered a sale to Mr. Hearst or to any one else.

In the splendid development of the unequaled territory covered by The Constitution, there is plenty of room and a fair field for healthy competition in every class of legitimate endeavor, and it shall be the policy of The Constitution in future, as it has been in the past, to labor along its own lines for the perfection of its own processes to aid, to entertain and to please its subscribers, and to build up the business of its advertisers.

In the meantime, The Constitution has no remote purpose, desire or intention to buy from, or sell to, any of its competitors, with all of whom it confidently expects to maintain for all time the keen but generous rivalry which wars only in enterprise and industry.

"A MESS OF POTTAGE."

The Associated Press reports that the situation regarding the Panama canal tolls repeal is badly obscured, and that it is commonly conceded that much of the foreign policy of the administration hinges upon the success of repeal.

The mere fact that the honor of the country is pledged should be sufficient to rally an overwhelming majority to the repeal of the indefensible exemption clause.

It does not lighten the face of dishonor to say that the platform of this or that party demands free tolls.

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty, with, theoretically, the signature of every American citizen upon it, is a prior lien upon the good faith of the nation. No number of party planks or quibbling subterfuges can evade this clean-cut fact. And that is not to reckon with the knowledge that exemption of coastwise shipping, as a means of protection, is a fraud, pure and simple; already coastwise shipping is protected against foreign competition; whatever "exemption" is given will be a naked gift from the United States treasury.

But, for the sake of academic argument,
but the matter of exemption upon a sordid basis. Assume exemption is justified. What does coastwise shipping get out of it? The estimate is that exemption will confer upon coastwise shipping a gain of $2,000,000 a year.

Why pay this gratuity to an already-protected interest?

We pay, first, the contempt of every square-dealing nation in civilization, the contempt visited upon the individual or the nation that fails to fulfill a solemn pledge, that "welches" on a note; we invite distrust of America in all its dealings with each other country in civilization. Translated into the "dollars and cents" basis, which the opponents of repeal appear to consider the sine qua non, what do these conditions signify?

Jostling and jarring in the far east over trade, territorial and racial matters; a blot upon England's powerful friendship for us; a possible embarrassment on our own hemisphere regarding the Monroe doctrine; a probable embarrassment of the growth of our foreign trade for an indefinite reach into the future.

All this for $2,000,000 a year to a lusty
and protected interest.

Honor to one side, if the nation is willing to swap its birthright for this microscopic mess of pottage, the sterling common sense of the nation has undergone a marvelous metamorphosis.

That for the "dollars and cents" basis!

THE MEDIEVALISTS.

Several days ago The Constitution published an editorial protesting against the proposed professional crucifixion of Dr. John A. Wyeth, of New York city, for a farcical infringement of medieval medical ethics.
Dr. Wyeth, whose name and accomplishments reputable physicians the world over hold in reverence, had invited a reporter to a clinic upon the explicit understanding that his account of the proceedings should not be used until first submitted to the doctor.
The condition was observed. Despite this concession to ethics and accuracy, there quickly sprung up in New York a few doctors with their heads in the middle centuries, who sought to discipline Dr. Wyeth for his breach of "ethics." This action The Constitution characterized as a travesty not only upon the dignity, but as well upon the common sense of the medical profession.

Some days ago someone asked Dr. Wyeth what he had to say of the discussion, and he replied: "Nothing, except to quote Galileo, 'The world moves all the same.'"

D. G. BICKERS.

Athens, Ga., March 22, 1914.

The school boy studying history can tell you just how sweeping and pertinent that epigram really is. Galileo was a born insurgent in astronomy and science. He wasn't on speaking terms with standpatism.
He discovered many of the laws of moving bodies. He was, in his day, the most powerful supporter of the Copernican theory that the earth revolves around the sun. The old standpat doctrine held that the earth stood still. The story runs that Galileo made it so hot for the standpatists of his day that they offered him the alternative of recanting or the block. It is told that in the face of this detectable pressure he still said, "The world moves all the same." Today the world upholds Galileo, and remembers his detractors only as laughing-stocks.

And that is why the reported comment of Dr. Wyeth is so pertinent. Dr. Wyeth will not, however, have to wait so long as Galileo for his vindication. Already the council of the American Medical association, the most powerful medical body in the country, has approved a doctrine of publicity in the lay press that far exceeds the cautious program of Wyeth. And it is right. In the middle centuries the alchemist or the charlatan might legitimately have relied upon mystery to give efficacy to his spells.
Then, and even later, the witch-doctor might have been justified in demanding an air of concealment for his charms and incantations.

In the twentieth century such pitiful theatrical accessories are not only ludicrous, but positively harmful. The one class of doctors they help are the quacks; the one class they injure are the conscientious practitioners. Just where this leaves "ethics" is a self-answering question. That is not to consult the welfare of the public.
For one layman who has benefited from the nursery-room-mystery of "ethics," twenty laymen, their wives and children have suffered from lack of that proper knowledge it should be the province of the qualified physician to sow. Sensible publicity never hurt any business or profession. Its absence, especially in these days when folk read and think, can work havoc.

Dr. Wyeth already is vindicated in the mind of the well-poised physician as well as the layman. All his critics are accomplishing is to lay up for themselves ridicule and discredit. The medievalists abound in all professions, flock all walks of life. For their croakings and sneers, their jibes and persecution, the retort of old Galileo is a solar-plexus:

"The world moves all the same!"

ALABAMA IN THROES OF HOTTEST CAMPAIGN KNOWN IN THE STATE IN PAST QUARTER OF A CENTURY

By John Corrigan, Jr.

(Constitution Political Correspondent.)

Birmingham, Ala., March 23.—(Special.)—Alabama is in the throes of the bitterest political struggle that has shaken the state in years. Five candidates for the United States senate and four for the governorship have wrought up the commonwealth to a white heat of interest. The campaign has reached that stage where the words "liar" and "slanderer" are being used recklessly.

The contest between Oscar W. Underwood, the democratic house leader, and Representative Richmond P. Hobson, for the senatorial term beginning March 4, 1915, has overshadowed all other contests in interest. It has divided families into opposing political camps. Thomas F. Ryan and prohibition are the issues on which the contest will turn.

While Mr. Underwood is remaining at his post in Washington, Mr. Hobson is making a whirlwind finish, in preparation for the primaries on April 6. He has been on the stump four months, and has covered the state, outside of his own congressional district, five times. He is making from two to half a dozen speeches a day.

Thomas F. Ryan has been projected into the spotlight by Mr. Hobson, for the man who put up $500,000 to pay the insolvent debts of the national democracy in 1904 is being scored from every stump by Mr. Hobson for his contribution of $35,000 to the Underwood presidential campaign fund last year.

Mr. Hobson, in replying to Mr. Underwood's answer to the charge that the democratic house leader is a "tool of Wall street," the Underwood managers confidently reply, "We stand on the record."

National Prohibition. National prohibition is the other big issue which Mr. Hobson has introduced. Other national problems are being ignored. Canal tolls, a greater navy, the trusts, the currency and the tariff are being mentioned only incidentally by Mr. Hobson on the stump.

Mr. Hobson's campaign is being conducted in a most unusual manner. He is capitalizing the prohibition sentiment and attempting to array prejudice against Mr. Underwood by saying the latter is a reactionary.

According to time-honored custom, both campaign managers are issuing lurid predictions. Forney Johnston, son of Joseph P. Johnston, one time senator, for whose unexpired term the present contest is being waged, predicts an Underwood victory by 30,000 majority. L. B. Musgrove, state manager for Hobson, claims the state, but gives no figures.

Coming into Birmingham yesterday, I polled the South train between Anniston and Birmingham. The result of the straw ballot showed eleven to one for Underwood among the citizens and voters on board. Including non-residents who expressed a preference, the vote stood eighteen to two.

Majority in Jefferson. Frank A. Hewitt, campaign manager for Underwood in this (Jefferson) county, predicts a majority in the county of 5,000. In answer to Mr. Hobson's claim of being an apostle of uplift and the candidate of the friends of righteousness, he took a poll of the deacons and stewards and other church officials of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of the city. This showed for Underwood 134, for Hobson 43; non-committal.

Mr. Musgrove today made this analysis of the situation from reports received at Hobson headquarters: Reports from southern Alabama are to the effect that almost the solid rural vote of that section is on the verge of a landslide to Hobson. It is also our information that such a condition prevails in many sections of north Alabama.

Mr. Hobson will get the largest vote that was ever polled in Mobile, Montgomery and Jefferson against the machine and ring rule. His vote in the sixth district will far exceed the most sanguinary figures that are claimed by the Underwood supporters in the ninth district.

"Many counties of the state are close, but, according to careful analysis, the majority are now in the Hobson column."

Johnston's Claims. Mr. Johnston's statement is as follows: "Our returns place every county in the first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth districts in the Underwood column by decisive majorities. In the third district, several counties are debatable territory, and in the sixth Hobson has the advantage in two counties. Underwood will carry three, with four doubtful."

"We do not care to make public our estimate of the majorities in the several counties; but, estimating a normal vote of 125,000, we expect a majority of not less than 30,000."

The only counter attack of the Underwood campaign managers is directed at Mr. Hobson's absenteeism. They have put him on the defensive by insinuating that he is neglecting his duties as a representative.

Daily this feature appears in a box on the first page of The Birmingham News, being changed to suit each day's developments.

WHERE CANDIDATES SPENT SATURDAY. OSCAR UNDERWOOD—On duty in the house of representatives. Washington. He earns $25 a day for representing the ninth district.

RICHMOND P. HOBSON—Speaking in Euclid and Jefferson county in the interest of his candidacy for the senate. He will continue to draw $25 a day as congressman from the sixth district.

The negro question is the third leading issue which has been brought forward to influence the choice of Alabama voters. This is always a subject of perennial interest in every state, and is used whenever possible to arouse prejudice and incite to sentiment.

The Negro Question. Hobson's vote in favor of the reinstatement in the army of the negro regiment which shot up the town of Brownsville, Texas, during the late war, has been a favorite topic of his campaign. He has been accused of being a "nigger-lover" and of being a "traitor" for his support of the negro.

law a step further as a measure for fortifying the prohibition laws of dry communities.

The fight to drive liquor out of Alabama has been a long and interesting one. In 1906 the local option fight was won. Under this state law, Jefferson county, in which Birmingham is situated, voted out liquor the following year. Then, in 1908, Governor B. Comer advocated a state-wide prohibition law, which was passed. The state was then legally dry territory. Not satisfied, the foes of liquor proposed to write the prohibition into the state constitution. This precipitated the hottest campaign known in the quarter of a century, with the exception of the fight now on. The constitutional amendment lost by 29,000 majority. Then these five counties voted liquor back in: Sumter, Talladega, Choctaw, Chambers and Lee.

Following the election of Governor O'Neal in 1910, the legislature passed another local option law, permitting each county to choose between liquor and no liquor. Jefferson county went wet, and saloons now flourish in Birmingham.

The fact that sixty of the sixty-seven counties in the state are dry reveals the strength of the prohibition sentiment to which Representative Hobson is appealing.

Mr. Hobson, in replying to Mr. Underwood's assertion that nation-wide prohibition has no part in the present senatorial campaign, dwells on the recent convention of the anti-liquor forces at Columbus, Ohio.

Tells of Convention. "This was the greatest convention ever held on this continent," he said in a speech Saturday night in North Birmingham. "Ninety-seven separate church and civic organizations were represented. The substantial support given by the people of the state, notwithstanding the moral force of the American people."

Continuing, he told his audience that the president of a Kentucky distilling company had made a proposal that the government should set apart 10 per cent of its gross income to be used for the purpose of buying out the distilleries at the end of ten years, and destroy them. He insisted the liquor people would spend half a million dollars to defeat him.

Mr. Hobson's campaign handbook is printed at Westerville, Ohio, which is the headquarters of P. D. Baker, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league.

Predicting that his constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition would pass congress and be ratified by thirty-six states, he said it was most important that the people should elect to the senate candidates pledged to support the resolution.

"Waiting the Magic Word" Should Be Read by Every Man in America.

—T. C. HOLMES.

Editor Constitution: I wish that every man in America could read your editorial of last Sunday under the caption "Waiting the Magic Word."

That editorial is the last word as to truth, logic and optimism as applied to the things foremost in the mind of the business man.

1. The restoration of prosperity to its full sweep and buoyancy for every interest in the country.

2. A permanent and amicable adjustment of relations between the public, the government and the railroads.

I have seen many statements of the direct and indirect advantages to flow from the ability of the railroads to finance their needs, aggregating conservatively one billion dollars.

Average Man's Stake. But I have never seen stated anywhere the stake of the average man in the matter. The average man's stake is the impulse to prosperity as you stated these two propositions Sunday.

Every man's stake in the subject of all technicalities, all prejudice, demagoguery or confusion, and present in a summing up as to the intelligence of the people as well as the most gifted of your readers.

The briefest of all for prosperity and justice, and your arguments are judicial and clean-cut.

Interlocking Interests. There is today much more or less loose talk about "interlocking directorates." It is a phrase that means much more. It is "interlocking interests."

Just a plain business man. But I confess that "interlocking interests" sounds lots better to me than up to a talk about "interlocking directorates."

Why? Interlocking interests means that at the last analysis the interests of every class in this country, when the almighty dollar is concerned, they interlock at every point; prick the interest of the railroad and you prick the interest of the ditch-digger, draughtsman, clerks, surveyors, mill hands, contractors, etc., at work where now there is one.

They're all losing. You need a lot for a house. See the connection? That billion will be big jump to business, oozing down to the smallest cog of the machinery in every American state.

Others, Too. If I get my share, other industries and activities will get their share. The wheel and the axle. The farmer, the stock raiser, the miner, the logger, the coal man, the ice man. The furrier, the taxidermist, the insurance man. The amusement man.

The activity that bears on life and its maintenance. Army to Be Supported. Why? Because the great army to be directly and indirectly affected by this huge expenditure of money is the army of the producing agencies hardly equalled in our history.

Impulse to Prosperity. It means an irresistible impulse to prosperity. It means a record for a record. It means the death knell of paralyzing uncertainty; it means whaling big rush in the business world.

You do well to say that all this depends upon the good faith and honesty of the railroads. They must give and observe that pledge.

But it is up to us to remember our obligation and our stake in the pot.

The phrase, "interlocking interests," sounds mighty good to me.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

Most reassuring to any candidate for public office would be such promise of support as has been accorded State Superintendent of Education L. L. Brittain by the Oconee board of education in resolutions drawn and adopted last Saturday at the board meeting.

The support offered by the Oconee county board is based upon the services of the state superintendent in his past administration.

The resolutions are as follows: "Resolved, that we with gratitude acknowledge the splendid efforts of Hon. M. L. Brittain, state school superintendent, for the advancement of our schools and educational interests; and we heartily commend his administration of the affairs of this important office, and assure him of our hearty support in the coming primary."

The members of the board present were W. S. Elder, president; James M. Mayne, L. C. Crow and W. W. Jordan. W. M. Whorther is superintendent of schools of the county.

JUDGES ROAN AND WADE PRESENT AT HEARING MONDAY MORNING

When the court of appeals sat for the hearing of cases Monday morning, the two judges—Judges Roan and Wade—were present, for the first time since their appointment.

Both have been present at other sittings of the court, but not at the same time. Immediately after the appointment of Judge Wade, Judge Roan went to Florida for his health. He has just returned, and is feeling much better.

The next batch of decisions from the appellate court will probably contain opinions from both the new judges.

As yet, Judge Roan has not announced whether or not he will stand for re-election. The only candidate now in view for the place at the expiration of the term is Judge Broyles.

SAYS PROGRESSIVE PARTY NEEDS FOLLOWING THE RECENT MEETING OF THE BOW MOOSERS IN ATLANTA, AT WHICH TIME THEY DECLARED THEIR MIND TO PUT FORTH A STATE TICKET, A MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE SAME HAS BEEN CALLED TO MEET AT THE ANSLIE HOTEL, IN ATLANTA, FRIDAY, MARCH 27, NOON.

At this meeting the question of the state ticket will be thoroughly threshed out, and it may be that the state ticket will be declared then and there.

The call for this meeting comes in a circular letter sent out by Dean E. Ryman, secretary of the committee. His letter concludes with the following expose of internal conditions of the progressive party in Georgia:

"The progressive party is at the parting of the ways in Georgia. Never before was it in such dire need of cool and level-headed counsel as at this juncture. It is in such straits for unprejudiced and clear-sighted counsel that it is compelled to call upon you, and we now depend upon you to give us the best advice you can. We shall in public approval of what our party shall go out indignantly—a discredited and forgotten institution, the by-product of a tremendous awakening of public conscience over the entire nation. The progressive party in Georgia is in a state of confusion. The situation here is not easily interpreted. We need your counsel."

WILLIE IS INVITED TO JOIN GOOD ROADS SCOUTING PARTY

Dr. S. W. McCallie, who has been invited to become a member of the government good roads scouting party on that part of its Georgia circuit, has been invited to join the party in Atlanta. He has been asked to join the party in Atlanta on March 25. The government good roads scouting party consists of Captain J. W. Smith, assistant director of the United States office of public roads; Leonard Tufts, chairman of the American Highway Association; Preston Coleman, state highway commissioner of Georgia; Joseph H. Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina; Preston Belmont, president State Automobile Association of Georgia; and J. W. McCallie, state geologist of Georgia.

Mr. Callahan is one of the biggest men in southwest Georgia. He is big and broad and progressive. His home town of Bainbridge owes him much as developer and he stands among the highest in the estimation of all who know him.

HON. W. R. REID, OF CRAWFORDVILLE, ANNOUNCES FOR STATE SENATE. Crawfordville, Ga., March 23.—(Special.)—Ex-State Senator W. R. Reid, of Crawfordville, has definitely announced his candidacy for nomination to the state senate, this being Tallaferr's time under the rotation system.

He makes formal announcement in the current issue of the local paper. He favors a strong enforcement of the prohibition law, the furnishing of school books at the actual cost of production and liberal pension laws for Confederate veterans and widows.

It is generally believed here that the nomination will go to him without opposition, having made the district and senator when he represented it before. Mr. Reid is one of the most enterprising citizens of the county and is a strong business man. He has the confidence and respect not only of the people of the county, but of this section of the state, where he is most intimately known.

Rose Beads 50c
Fair and Fragrant:
The Richest Necklace in Nature's Realm

Years ago the early Spanish Monks in California had a process of working rose petals into a pulp and then molding them into beads. Hardening like adamant, the beads held inviolate the sweet odor of the rose. But the process was slow and tedious; the beads consequently costly, and the art died. Machinery, working with the skill of a thousand fingers, now reproduces even better beads than the Monks made. Miniature roses no larger than each bead or two is a gold bead, forming a charming necklace. Various odors in addition to rose. By mail, 4c extra.

WEST CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

In Regard to A. P. Adams.
The Georgia Senator Also States Views on Pending
National Questions.

Washington, March 23.—(Special.)—President Wilson's attitude regarding the appointment of A. Pratt Adams, of Savannah, as United States attorney for the southern district of Georgia, apparently coincides with that of the attorney general, meaning that before Mr. Adams is appointed the partnership of Mr. Adams with his father, Judge Samuel B. Adams, must be dissolved. This is the impression gained by Senator West, who took the case to the president today. Alexander Adams, too, will probably be retained in office until the naval stores prosecutions are ended.

In the meantime Senator West is writing Mr. Adams of the situation with a view to ending it. He will accept the place if it is necessary for the partnership to be dissolved. Hereafter Mr. Adams has given Senator West the impression that he would not withdraw from the partnership. Senator West also assured the president of his support of the proposal to repeal the free tolls provision in the Panama canal bill.

He told him also that he is in favor of granting to the roads in the south a 5 per cent increase in freight rates. While the president has been silent on this question, as it is in the hands of the interstate commerce commission, it is generally understood that he favors the increase, and will favor it actively whenever it may be proper for him to do so.

Senator West protested to the president against an indiscriminate prohibition of interlocking directors, declaring that such a law will seriously injure the interests of Georgia and other like states. He maintains that an active interest of leading men in many enterprises in small communities aids these communities in development and to prohibit such varied interests would be a detriment.

He urged a limit to the operation of the law, for example, having it establish the corporations having a capital stock of a million dollars or more.

Darien-Brunswick Mail Service.
Representatives Edwards and Walker were assured at the postoffice department that mail service will be established between Darien and Brunswick, on the Georgia Coast and Piedmont railways, and that other improvements of the route will probably be inaugurated. The link between Darien and Brunswick has been only recently completed.

Spence Not Confirmed.
Further delay in the confirmation of Judge W. N. Spence, of Camilla, to be district attorney of the third division of Alaska was caused today by the fact that the senate judiciary committee did not report his name. A subcommittee of the committee, however, and report to the full committee at a special meeting Wednesday. Judge Spence arrived last week to be sworn in.

Flight on Negro Judge.
Sensors Hoke Smith, West, Overman, Vandaman, Reed and other southern senators will organize an active flight against the negro judge, who has been appointed as judge on the municipal court of the district of Columbia. Senator Smith voted against a favorable report of the judiciary committee today.

To Regulate Cotton Exchanges.
Senator Hoke Smith has received several letters from cotton producers and cotton mill men from Georgia, as well as from other sections of the country, complaining his appointment as a bill to regulate cotton exchanges. Wall street newspapers are aroused, and have been printing broadsheets following his speech of last week. He expects to speak again when the bill is called before the senate.

Georgia Postmaster.
The president today nominated S. A. Sparks, Sr., for postmaster at Lafayette, and John H. Hodges for postmaster at Perry.

AT THE THEATERS.
Neil O'Brien Minstrels.
(At the Atlanta.)
It's just naturally not human for anybody to play a banjo like Eddie Ross does in Neil O'Brien's minstrels. The moment he picks up "the African harp," the same being the nomenclature by which Eddie Ross designates the instrument becomes inspired. Instantly it gives forth such an astonishing assembly of sounds and such astonishing syncopational sequence as has never before fallen upon the ears of an Atlanta audience. All the while you would never guess, by his facial expression or motion of his hand, that Eddie is even struggling on the verge of being aware that the banjo is so much as remotely in his vicinity.

You may have gathered by now that it was the performance of Eddie Ross from which I gathered most entertainment at the Atlanta theater last night. That is not to say that Eddie Ross is the whole show—not by any manner of means.

The entire performance is live, breezy, funny and melodious, and there were doubtless other features that appealed equally as much as others. For instance, Neil O'Brien is as imitable as ever. He has a good, laughable, charming sense of humor, and his parrot sketch is very funny.

The dancing acts are refreshingly out of the ordinary. Neither could one think of the show without recalling Major C. Nowak, who towers to good minstrel show without the second part gives one the vague sense of being afraid that he is in continual danger of being misplaced and lost.

Neither could one feel that he had been to a good minstrel show without seeing Lucien York, Ben Treadwell, Louis Greig, Bill Sharpe and Willard Patterson. They were all there. They will also be present at the matinee and night performances today.

CIVIC FEDERATION TO HELP FARMERS

Department on Farm Conditions and Rural Betterment Organized—Dr. Kirkland, of Atlanta, Speaks.

New York, March 23.—The development of American farming is to be undertaken by the National Civic Federation, which organized today a department on agricultural conditions and rural betterment. The executive committee held a luncheon today at which noted speakers discussed the farming industry. They held that co-operation and systematized organization among farmers was necessary if the industry in the United States were to be brought up to the standard obtaining in other countries.

Dr. Grace Kirkland a Speaker.
The decision to aid the farmers was contained in a resolution adopted at the suggestion of Dr. Albert Shaw, who declared education and standardization were factors toward solution of the problem. The committee authorized its chairman, Seth Low, president of the federation, and treasurer, Dr. Robert H. Robinson, to appoint a plan and scope committee.

The speakers with Dr. Shaw and Mr. Low were Andrew Carnegie, Lieutenant Governor Sheffield, of Kansas; Dr. Grace Kirkland, of Atlanta, representing the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union; Leonard R. Robinson, of New York, representing the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society; Dr. L. W. Johnson, of California, representing the National Farmers' Union; and others. Attending the luncheon were men interested in farming representing the various states and the national government.

Andrew Carnegie told of farming conditions in Scotland, Denmark and in the American west. He described co-operation as it works out in California. "That will do more to meet the conditions of the farmer than anything else possibly can," he said.

Vital Human Problem.
Leonard R. Robinson alluded to farming as a "vital human problem" that will not be solved by the self-seeker or the visionary. "What is needed," he said, "is an organization of such unquestionable sponsorship and predominance as to command general confidence. I cannot think of any organization so eminently qualified to assume the task of commanding confidence as the National Civic Federation. If this new agricultural department accomplishes nothing more than the elimination of the visionary, the self-seeker, the irresponsible, from the agricultural field, it will perform a significant public service and fully justify its creation."

"A Pair of Jacks."
Full of laughter—all good-sized laughter at that—old and young, musical numbers that are not frayed around the edges, "A Pair of Jacks," in which George Milnor and Jennie Delmar are featured, opened another week's engagement at the Columbia this last night. In the cast there are thirty people who are just as clever and any number of them are as good as the number one. Just as good as the number one. Just as good as the number one.

Even though there was no merit to the show itself, the olio is worth seeing. Sir Vincent and his dance act that got the crowd in a good humor and held it to the last number. The Densmore Sisters won added laurels by their dance number, and Marie Woods, "The Nightingale," was pleasing in her melody numbers.

Some Facts About DeKalb County and Decatur, Its County Seat

DeKalb County is traversed by two branches of the Southern Railroad, by the Seaboard Air Line and by the Georgia Railroad, running out of Atlanta.

DeKalb County is the seat of the great granite industry of Georgia, and millions of dollars' worth of this granite is being quarried every year at Stone Mountain, Redan and Lithonia.

In DeKalb County are all the country clubs adjacent to Atlanta, such as East Lake, Druid Hills and Brookhaven.

In DeKalb County are such well-known educational institutions as Agnes Scott College, at Decatur, and Oglethorpe University, near Silver Lake.

The Ninth Ward, the fastest-growing ward of Atlanta, is in DeKalb County.

DEKALB COUNTY
is connected with the city of Atlanta by EIGHT electric trolley lines and a system of modern highways.

DeKalb County's taxable values for 1913 showed an increase of $1,300,000.00, indicating the increase of every other county except Fulton, Bibb and Chatham.

The County Seat of DeKalb County is famous for its splendid public schools, and for the Donald Fraser High School and Agnes Scott College.

The committee authorized its chairman, Seth Low, president of the federation, and treasurer, Dr. Robert H. Robinson, to appoint a plan and scope committee.

The speakers with Dr. Shaw and Mr. Low were Andrew Carnegie, Lieutenant Governor Sheffield, of Kansas; Dr. Grace Kirkland, of Atlanta, representing the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union; Leonard R. Robinson, of New York, representing the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society; Dr. L. W. Johnson, of California, representing the National Farmers' Union; and others. Attending the luncheon were men interested in farming representing the various states and the national government.

Andrew Carnegie told of farming conditions in Scotland, Denmark and in the American west. He described co-operation as it works out in California. "That will do more to meet the conditions of the farmer than anything else possibly can," he said.

Vital Human Problem.
Leonard R. Robinson alluded to farming as a "vital human problem" that will not be solved by the self-seeker or the visionary. "What is needed," he said, "is an organization of such unquestionable sponsorship and predominance as to command general confidence. I cannot think of any organization so eminently qualified to assume the task of commanding confidence as the National Civic Federation. If this new agricultural department accomplishes nothing more than the elimination of the visionary, the self-seeker, the irresponsible, from the agricultural field, it will perform a significant public service and fully justify its creation."

"A Pair of Jacks."
Full of laughter—all good-sized laughter at that—old and young, musical numbers that are not frayed around the edges, "A Pair of Jacks," in which George Milnor and Jennie Delmar are featured, opened another week's engagement at the Columbia this last night. In the cast there are thirty people who are just as clever and any number of them are as good as the number one. Just as good as the number one. Just as good as the number one.

Even though there was no merit to the show itself, the olio is worth seeing. Sir Vincent and his dance act that got the crowd in a good humor and held it to the last number. The Densmore Sisters won added laurels by their dance number, and Marie Woods, "The Nightingale," was pleasing in her melody numbers.

Some Facts About DeKalb County and Decatur, Its County Seat

DeKalb County is traversed by two branches of the Southern Railroad, by the Seaboard Air Line and by the Georgia Railroad, running out of Atlanta.

DeKalb County is the seat of the great granite industry of Georgia, and millions of dollars' worth of this granite is being quarried every year at Stone Mountain, Redan and Lithonia.

In DeKalb County are all the country clubs adjacent to Atlanta, such as East Lake, Druid Hills and Brookhaven.

In DeKalb County are such well-known educational institutions as Agnes Scott College, at Decatur, and Oglethorpe University, near Silver Lake.

The Ninth Ward, the fastest-growing ward of Atlanta, is in DeKalb County.

is connected with the city of Atlanta by EIGHT electric trolley lines and a system of modern highways.

DeKalb County's taxable values for 1913 showed an increase of $1,300,000.00, indicating the increase of every other county except Fulton, Bibb and Chatham.

If a movement among farmers is to be of practical value, Dr. Grace Kirkland said, the leaders must be from the farmers' ranks. "The trouble is," she declared, "to get the average white American over 21 to do what you want him to do, and in order to do this the leaders must be of their own class."

Dr. Albert Shaw said that before American farmers can call themselves efficient or capable they must know how to raise beef in the east and dairy products in the south.

In Other Countries.
Mr. Ingalls compared the United States unfavorably with other countries in agricultural development, although he admitted that by means of numerous state and national departments of agriculture, the nation had become a recognized expert in promulgation of agricultural theories.

"Other nations," he said, "have passed us in the application of these theories. Comparing farming by standards set for other business, I would say that the troubles of American agriculture are due largely to waste in production, to lack of organized systems for purchase of supplies, and to a failure to utilize credit facilities."

Thaw Wants More Time.
Concord, N. H., March 23.—Counsel for Harry K. Thaw announced tonight that they had filed a motion for an extension of time for completing the final brief in the extradition proceedings before the federal court. The brief, which is voluminous, will go to the printers tomorrow and probably will be ready for filing by the end of the week. It was to have been submitted to the court Wednesday.

41 BLOODED HORSES PERISH IN FLAMES
Fort Riley, Kan., March 23.—Forty-one blooded horses belonging to the service school on the United States military reservation were burned today in a fire that destroyed the school stables. The mounts were being schooled as jumpers and a number of them were to enter the military contests to be held in Madison Square garden. Two high-priced horses, including the station Ventrone, were sent to a school by August Belmont, were rescued.
